Northcliffe Town Website Updates

This month we welcomed Damon Ormsby, our new trainee. Amongst other things, Damon has taken on the job of updating the Northcliffe town website:

www.northcliffe.org.au

Businesses, groups, tradespersons, artists and others are invited to contact us with updated or new details. We will also consider including a photo if you have one.

This job is being taken on from website creator and long time volunteer maintainer Kate Haslam. Northcliffe and the NCRC owe her a huge debt of gratitude for conceiving, creating and maintaining Northcliffe's first significant cyberspace presence. Thanks Kate!

Further plans include a redesign and migration of the website to Wordpress, refining and adding new content and splitting off the Pioneer Museum onto its own web page. Watch this space!

A Northcliffe Weather Station ...Postscript

Since our article about Weather information for Northcliffe, in October 2013, NCRC Secretary Jo Tat has made an interesting discovery. The Department of Agriculture and Food (DAFWA) has recently installed 40 new automatic weather stations across WA. Northcliffe was included in the roll out which was funded with assistance from the Royalties for Regions program. The weather data is updated every 10 minutes and the data from all 83 weather stations in operation is accessible from the DAFWA website at the following link:

agspsrv34.agric.wa.gov.au/climate/livedata/sumpages.htm

For a more convenient format of the same data, isolated to Northcliffe, along with a one week forecast, visit the link:

ozforecast.com.au/cgi-bin/weather.cgi?station=Northcliffe.WA

We would also like to send a shout out to Bob Nicholas who responded to our last article regarding a weather station for Northcliffe. Bob maintains his own automatic weather station in Northcliffe and offered to provide weather data on an ongoing basis.
