

The 10th Graduate from Northcliffe CRC

The NCRC recently celebrated a successful traineeship completion. Star trainee Trevor will now be hanging up his Batman costume and returning to normal life.

Delving into our records we discovered Trev is the 10th trainee graduation thanks to Northcliffe CRC.

We are proud of our trainees and of NCRC for being able to provide these employment and training opportunities in Northcliffe. Our trainee employment program is support by the Government of Western Australia.

Our thanks to Trev, on behalf of ourselves and of NCRC customers, for being a great CRC worker and an absolute asset to the centre. As usual, we'd love to provide ongoing employment for our graduated trainees, who have proven proficient at helping our customers and making NCRC life smoother. Unfortunately that isn't in the budget, as well as not being the intention of the traineeship program.

In other trainee news, Shay's traineeship has a long way to run still and is going great. We currently have our fingers crossed that we receive a grant to employ our next trainee to work alongside the existing trainee and the whole team. If we are successful in our application, a new trainee position will be advertised, with the successful candidate to commence employment around April 2024.

7pm Saturday 18th November

From director Lilli Horvat comes one of 2022's most critically acclaimed films. Marta, a 40 year old neurosurgeon, falls in love and leaves the USA for a new life in Budapest with the man she loves.

We supply the popcorn. No bookings required—just come along.

Northcliffe's film club is a partnership between Northcliffe Library, Northcliffe CRC and Southern Forest Arts.

"Hitchcock-cool noir"

"...a goosebump-inducing experience"

"It kept me unmoored. I felt I was on a rickety jetty the whole time"

These are snippets from reviews for psychological thriller: 'Preparations to Be Together For an Unknown Period of Time'. What a mouthful!

The plot sounds intriguing. Though I haven't seen the film, I'll leave the more interesting plot details I've seen described as a surprise. Instead here's some things the film is a bit like...

While reviewers refer to Hitchcock, the premise of the film reminds me more of the 1940s classic 'Gaslighting' and the novel/film 'Turn of the Screw'. Both of these are about the uncertain reliability of the narrator. Are we watching a tale of persecution, or a view from inside a mental illness? Is something mundane happening or something more super-natural? Join us and hopefully we'll find out.
